THE LIFE OF A CHEMIST

RIDERS LOST IN THE HIMALAYAS

SELECTION OF THE BEST FRIEND

A GARDEN BORN BY INSPIRATION

"...I want to have freedom of research; otherwise, I will be limited in my work"

Alexander Borodin

There is no room in ancient history so far for the army of stone horsemen pertified on the slopes of the Pir Panjal mountain range, Himalayas

In June 2017, this was the site of a Russian-Indian archaeological expedition launched to find and describe stone horses, enigmatic statues lost in these remote areas of the western Lesser Himalayas
